

STANDARD BROADBAND & FIBRE BROADBAND PLANS

Terms & Conditions for Consumer Customers

Version 9

Date 20 January 2022

General

You can join one of our Standard, Fibre, Fibre Plus, Fibre Max or Full Fibre Max broadband plans.

To join a Fibre or Fibre Plus broadband plan, you'll need to live in an EE Fibre Broadband network area; currently available to over 27.4m UK homes and businesses. Our Fibre Max broadband plans utilise a new technology known as "G.fast", so to join one of these plans, you'll need to live in an area which is enabled for G.fast. Full Fibre Max broadband is available in areas that have been enabled for full fibre from EE (also known as Fibre to the Premises "FTTP"). Please check ee.co.uk/broadband for availability of all our plans.

You can choose whether to take a Fibre, Fibre Plus, or Fibre Max broadband plan with or without a landline Calling Add-on. If you do not take a landline Calling Add-on, you will have no dial tone and will not be able to make or receive calls, including calls to emergency services. You will also lose any existing landline number you have. In order to add a landline service and Calling Add-on you will need to agree to a new minimum term.

Standard broadband is only available with landline and you will need to take a Calling Add-on.

Full Fibre Max broadband and FTTP variants of Fibre and Fibre Plus are only available without a landline and you will not be able to add a landline Calling Add-on. If you move to Full Fibre from Standard, Fibre, Fibre Plus or Fibre Max you will not be able to revert back to your old service with a landline.

To be able to connect to our router wirelessly, you'll need a wireless enabled computer, device, or adapter.

Unless we tell you otherwise, all our Fibre, Fibre Plus, Fibre Max and Full Fibre Max broadband plans, and most of our Standard broadband plans, have a 24-month minimum connection period. EE Standard broadband is also available with a 12-month minimum connection period when you buy online at ee.co.uk/broadband. You'll also have to pass our standard credit check.

All our available plans have an unlimited data allowance and are available to consumers and small business customers using internet services at one residential or business address.

It can take up to 30 days for us to get you set up with your plan, including setting up the line required for the services.

The monthly charges we promote for our broadband plans assume that you receive bills online. Additional charges will be payable if you do not pay by the date set out on your bill. For more information, please see our Price Guide ee.co.uk/homepricing and our Home Network terms at ee.co.uk/terms.

All Calling Add-ons

Our calls are for normal person to person use from your landline and are subject to your acceptance of our Network Terms. We monitor use in accordance with those terms. Those terms state that you can't use these plans for anything unlawful or for nuisance communications; if you appear to be using our services for improper purposes, we reserve the right to monitor your usage and/or suspend or terminate your service.

If your Calling Add-on includes an allowance of calls, you can make calls using that allowance for up to one hour. You can redial as often as you like. If your call (from your Calling Add-on's inclusive allowance) exceeds 60 minutes, you'll be charged per minute in accordance with our Price Guide ee.co.uk/homepricing. If the Call Plus Add-on is added part-way through your billing cycle, then the cost of this Add-on will be pro-rated based on the number of days remaining in your billing cycle, but you will receive the features for the remainder of that cycle. If the Add-on is removed part-way through your billing cycle, then you will receive a pro-rated bill credit based on the cost of the Add-on and the number of days remaining in your billing cycle.
